Call for nominations for 2017-18 book project

Call for nominations for 2017-18 book project
The campus is inviting your suggestions for the book that will follow Stuffed and Starved in the Campus Community Book Project.

Stuffed and Starved is the book project for 2016-17, as announced last month, selected from nominations on the topic of "poverty/hunger/food security."

The topic for 2017-18, as selected by the Campus Council on Community and Diversity, is "intersection of racial and LGBTQIA (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer, Intersex, Asexual) identities." Nominations are due by July 1, after which the selection committee will have the summer months to consider the nominated volumes.

Here are the general criteria for nominations:

- Compelling and thought-provoking to engage us in dialogue about contemporary controversial issues and to raise questions that have many possible answers.
- Well-written, accessible and engaging to a general audience.
Short enough to be read within the meframe usually allotted for coursework. Provocative and intriguing to as many members of the community as possible, to invite diverse participation and integration into discussion groups and courses across the sciences, social sciences, and humanities. In print in paperback (by spring of the year before the project) and affordable. Written by an author who is still living and who is an engaging public speaker, available to give an author's talk during the span of the project, and who would be a campus guest.

Nominees are welcome from anyone in the campus community. Please include title, author and a short description of the book, plus an explanation of why it complements the topic and represents a worthy selection.

Have a nomination or would you like to volunteer for the selection committee? Send an email to Mikael Villalobos, coordinator of the Campus Community Book Project.

Savor the thought: Beginning fall quarter 2016, Saturday finals are a thing of the past.

How did that happen? Well, students had been advocating for an end to Saturday exams, and campus leadership worked with ASUCD representatives to do just that. About a year ago, campus leadership forwarded the recommendation to the UC Office of the President, and it was approved.

Note dates on your calendar now:

Fall Quarter 2016

- Classes start on Wednesday, September 21
- Classes end on Friday, December 2
- Final exams from Monday, December 5 through Friday, December 9

The Apocalypse! No Electricity! "The Simpsons?"

In the wake of a post-apocalyp c event, a group of survivors gathers together and tries to recall an episode from television's "The Simpsons." From their recolle ons, the tale evolves into the founda on of a new theatrical and musical art form - complete with commercials. Playwright Anne Washburn has taken this concept to hilarious heights in her wickedly funny "Mr. Burns, A Post-Electric Play," billed as a dark comedy with music.

Featuring music by Michael Friedman and lyrics by Washburn, the innova ve contemporary work will be presented by the UC Davis Department of Theatre and Dance in Wright Hall’s Main Theatre Thursday through Saturday May 19-21 and 26-28 at 8 p.m. and Sundays May 22 and 29 at 2 p.m.
Directed by visiting artist, Mindy Cooper.
